THE ACROPOLIS ABOVE ATHENS, WHERE THE JOURNEY BEGINS

WELCOME

Guided mainland, leisure islands.

Athens and the Isles is a journey of two halves, and the change of pace is the point of it. The first three days are classic, guided Athens. The rest belongs to the islands, and to you.

It opens beneath the Acropolis, with a professional guide and a full day cruising the Saronic Gulf. Then the trip crosses the Aegean to Mykonos and to Santorini, and the structure deliberately falls away. Flock arranges every flight, ferry, transfer, and hotel, but the island days carry no touring coach and no fixed program. They are open hours, for caldera walks, beaches, long lunches, and sunsets at whatever pace you choose.

Every hotel, flight, ferry, and transfer has been arranged for you by Flock, drawing on a heritage of guided group travel that reaches back to 1959. All that is left for you to do is arrive.
